

LYRICS

Notions in the Night

(I only want to be alone, if I can't be with you)

Written by Alexander Johnson

15.11.2008

© 2008 Seven Beland Ltd, Switzerland, SUISA

All rights reserved

Love's intimate fragrance fills the room
As moon light patterns cross my bed
I reach to touch your sweet warm face
Run my fingers thru your silky hair
But all I find is an empty space
A wrinkled sheet is all that's left
You've gone, taking my heart, as I slept

So I turn and hold my pillow tight
And send a thought to the night
I only want to be alone, if I can't be with you

Here, solitary in the hush of darkness
I thought I heard you utter a lover's cry
However, it was only a sensuous illusion
With your voice echoing in my senses
My hand starts to reach for the phone
While my mind wonders if you're home
Yet then I think, come let her sleep

So I turn and hold my pillow tight
And send a thought to the night
I only want to be alone, if I can't be with you

Late hours stretch till they meet the light
My eyes are shut but I'm wide awake
Visions of you flow through my head
Right from the start you took me as I am
Your touch makes me feel like a man
But now your life has been cut in two
There's loyalty for him, and loving for me

So I turn and hold my pillow tight
And send a thought to the night
I only want to be alone, if I can't be with you